Today, we are being called to awaken. There is no doubt about it. In every facet of human life, we face unprecedented challenges that require us to think “outside the box” of conventionality, to shift and expand our consciousness and look at life from a more inclusive and holistic perspective, and stand together on the common ground of our humanity and divine heritage that we may not merely survive, but thrive as a species. At the same time, we are also being presented, individually and as a society, with extraordinary opportunities for exploration, discovery, learning, growing, and healing.

The seeking of spiritual answers is no longer confined to religious services. Mediums are now regularly featured in or host television, radio, and Internet shows. Even if there are still some vociferous naysayers, there are many more people, who are actively seeking to understand the experiences of those who have related more directly with the realm of spirit. In fact, there are now, on record, the testimonies of thousands, who have had near-death experiences and for a time left the experience of the body and this world to directly know that they are eternal souls. Even more people have experienced contact and communication with spirit in the form of an angel or a spirit guide.

For those seeking a more terrestrial experience of awakening consciousness, recent archeological excavations, examinations, and new research in prehistoric megalithic sites like Göbeckli Tepe in Turkey, Gunung Padang in Indonesia, and Yonaguni Monument in Japan, have unearthed increasing evidence that the history of advanced human civilization goes back to much earlier epochs than previously imagined. The Lost Continents of Lemuria and Atlantis are no longer merely within the purview of mediums, metaphysicians, and mystics, but now increasingly becoming a subject of interest among some renown archeologists and historians.

If you like to look up to the stars for inspiration, you're not alone either. All around the globe, from farmers to military officials and from commercial pilots to celebrities have experienced the presence of extraterrestrial intelligent life from advanced civilizations. Even though just a couple of decades ago, few people would have risked public humiliation and ridicule for speaking openly about UFOs and ETs, today, many would acknowledge that they are indeed a part of a larger, more galactic society.

People are awakening and, even in the wake of catastrophic tsunamis, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, fires, and mega-storms, those who are awakening are seeing them as opportunities to reach out and share, to come together in unity of spirit, and to express their love in new and profound ways that we may all heal as one humanity. All of this is a necessary part of our transformation and evolution from having long been a body-based intellectual race to becoming a spirit-centered intuitive one.

No matter what is happening in your life now, know this: That you are limitless, eternal spirit. So, how can you not be both joyous and psychic? Yet, often, you may not feel joyful or believe that you have powerful psychic abilities within you. That is the part of you that has yet to awaken to the truth of your being. When you do awaken more, you will be able to experience the joy that lives within you at all times. You will have certainty that you are fully equipped with abilities of intuitive knowing, clairvoyance, mediumship, and all of the other innate gifts of spirit. To awaken yourself more, however, you have to practice laughing, loving, and living by intuition, day by day, no matter what happens in the world or in your life. That is your next step along your path of awakening to your fulfillment. For the measure of your spiritual development is not based on what happens in your life, but on how you choose to respond to everything that happens.

I am one of those fortunate souls who remembers his spiritual life prior to birth into this incarnation. I even recall how I departed from my previous incarnation and for what purpose, and what I did immediately afterwards. As a child growing up in this lifetime, I knew that I was much older than what I appeared to be physically. I used to tell people that I couldn't wait to be an old man. I knew that my most important work here would not begin until I entered the final trimester of this lifetime. I also knew that as a child and even as a young adult, most people would not be willing to listen to what I had to teach. As well, I would need to have had enough life experience to gain the wisdom required to adequately communicate with those I would teach.

Every opportunity given me to teach I cherish, for it is in those moments that I am fulfilling the most profound and universally healing aspect of what I am here to accomplish. That is one of the reasons I so look forward to my visit to Switzerland each year to teach both my continuing students from prior years as well as to celebrate the reunion with souls I have long known but have not yet met in person in this lifetime. Some of you who have been coming to these workshops and seminars in Basel and Zürich for the past several years are becoming increasingly aware of the amazing community of kindred, loving souls that you have been part of for a very long time. I welcome each and every one of you. Gathering together in a unity of spirit as we do during these events is one powerful and joyous way in which we get to celebrate our eternal life and friendships as we each awaken more fully.

From the time I was a child, I have known that I am here to teach people about the nature of life and our true purpose in living. I've also wanted to share with everyone how they, too, can begin to experience life at least as joyously as I've been blessed to experience it. I'd like to see you each live as happily and healthfully as you can as you fulfill your own soul purpose for being here. So, if you've been seeking deeper truths, practical answers to your spiritual development, and a way to live more joyously, please join us in this evening workshop I will be giving in one of my all-time favorite cities in the world. Not only will you learn about laughing, loving, and living by your intuition everyday, no matter what is happening in your life, I will also teach you several simple, yet powerful psychic energy tools you can use daily to enhance your life and fulfill more of your purpose. I'll guide you in a fun way to learn to start working with your psychic awareness, abilities, and energy, so you can live more of the miracle that is your soul life in this world.

May the light of truth illuminate your every step and unending love guide your every choice. With gratitude, love and laughter,

Michael
